What to expect:

Please bring your works in a bag, box, or packaging that can be reused for future use during the tear down. Artists are welcome to help install the artworks, but it is not mandatory, our team will take care of the rest! Third Space will supply all the necessary mounting materials for the show, as well as signage for names, didactics, and purchasing directions for buyers.

An informal vernissage will take place on the Friday following the install day. A Facebook event will be shared on Third Space's page, we advertise these as a way to get people out and about. Sometimes the turnout is overwhelming, other times it can be quiet, however it is never a reflection of your work. Any successful show is a show that goes up and stays up!

Afterwards, the rest of the show is a waiting game. We will reach out to you directly via email if a sale has been made, and payment to the artist will be made within 48 business hours. If you are able to make a sale yourself, please let us know and we will mark the label with a "sold" sticker dot. Purchased artworks will remain up until the end of the show, after which they will be wrapped and noted with the buyer's name for pick up. All works in the show will be ready for collection as noted by the above day and time.

Third Space will take reasonable care with submission materials; however, we cannot accept responsibility for damage. By completing this form, you consent to having your art photographed for publicity purposes through Third Space's social media accounts.
